Lessons from Caine’s Arcade

Caine’s Arcade is a beautiful and inspiring film which teaches us lots of useful lessons about life.

1. Have a passion. Like many young kids, Caine is passionate about arcade games. So much so that it was inspired to create his own cardboard arcade.

2. Be totally committed. Even though Caine had hardly any customer, he wasn’t deterred from building up his arcade. He was totally committed to working on his passion.

3. Never give up. Even though people ignored Caine’s requests to play his arcade games, Caine didn’t give up.

4. Take initiative. Caine had a passion and an idea, and he used his initiative to make his dream come true.

5. Use what you have. Caine didn’t need the latest gadgets to be creative, he used the cardboard boxes, everyday office supplies such as packing tape, scissors, staplers, and markers, and junk he found in his father’s auto-part store.

6. Seize opportunities. When Caine had to spend his summer holiday at his father’s store, he didn’t consider this as a boring vacation, but rather he saw it as an opportunity to let his imagination and creativity run wild to create his arcade.